Houses

A new series by Mar Benegas for babies and toddlers to discover how a shell becomes the perfect home for Snail, what Little Bird's nest is like and how it builds it, twig by twig, or the pond where Frog lives together with its siblings.

The books include a final fold-out, with lots of detail, which gathers some of the elements seen in the previous pages, for the children to search for and find them. Perfect to prop on the floor to keep babies entertained during tummy time or playtime.

The Seasons

A new pull-the-tabs collection of books to pull and play as kids learn about the four seasons. Learning about the seasons helps children understand the passage of time and teaches them about change. Tabs on every right-hand page are for children to pull out, presenting them a landscape, as it changes according to the climate of each season. Take a look at the incredible changes that take place in the natural world and learn all about the seasons with the rhymes of Mar Benegas and the amazing illustrations by Laura Miyashiro!

My Hat

A hat is an accessory to cover and protect our heads. But it can also be a useful tool for thinking, playing and guessing what's under it. That's one of the purposes of the new lift-the-flap book by Christian Inaraja. It presents a gallery of portraits of kids wearing all sorts of headwear: from knitted and bath caps to scout and top hats. Accompanied with simple rhymes, readers will discover what the protagonists want to become when they grow up. Just make your guess, lift the flaps and find out which are the thoughts kept under each hat. And you, what do you want to be when you grow up?

Cris the Cricket

An enchanting sound button book written by Oriol Garcia Molsosa with the adorable characters from Gusti. Cris the Cricket wishes to be a composer but has run out of inspiration. He always sings the same song: a boring and repetitive cric-cric. One day he decides to plant his cric-cric as a seed. In order to make it grow, he asks the animals that pass by for help.

Marlow the Sparrow and many others help him to water the seed. And, little by little, spread by spread, the seed becomes a song...

Press the buttons to hear the different animal sounds specially set to music on each page and sing along as the music plays in a joint finale.

The Amazing Creepy Grandpa House

Further to the success of The Amazing Creepy Granny House, here comes another amazing lift the flap book by Meritxell Martí and Xavier Salomó.

Once upon a time there was a retired pirate who lived in a strange old house on top of a rock. On the ground floor: an empty tavern. And in the basement, barrels of old rum and secret creepy passages. With the help of his granddaughter, they will sail against all odds to find a precious treasure.

In broad outline, that would be the plot. But don't be misled, this is much more than a book. It is a treasure hunt. It is also a pirate ship to live amazing adventures.

The story is packed with nods to classics such as Treasure Island, The Adventures of Baron Munchausen, Andersen's The Little Mermaid, Salgari's The Black Corsair and many more. If your little ones love adventure and pirate stories, this is one of a kind!

The Amazing Creepy Granny House

Meritxell Martí and Xavier Salomó have created a not-too-spooky lift-the-flap book that promises hours of entertainment for the little ones.

This title shares the memorable story of a grandson visiting her granny to spend a very special evening together. To his surprise, when the kid arrives in the old Victorian style house, there is note for him: a mouth-watering snack awaits in the kitchen.

After having a delicious eye-popping chocolate smoothy, the young boy chases the kitten room by room until dusk. By the time the full-moon is coming, the big date approaches and so does the a punchy dénouement that gives a unique twist on the haunted house cliché.

Readers will love exploring the rooms, guessing what is beneath each flap and finding details and surprises hidden on every page.

Solfa Series

A new series of novelty books by Oriol Garcia Molsosa. A new series aimed at children who are interested in music and are considering choosing an instrument to take lessons. Four years old is considered by most music instructors to be the perfect timing at which a child should start playing an instrument. And guess what? Piano and violin are among the most popular instruments for kids aged 4 and up. And they are perfect for musicians of all ages to learn. With these lavishly illustrated books, packed with anecdotes, kids will learn how instruments work, how they sound, their history, how they are built and everything they should know by lifting flaps and playing with all sorts of mechanisms.

Disconcerting Stories

The history of music is full of amusing, dramatic and legendary little anecdotes. Those curiosities have been perpetuated over centuries. They bring us closer to the masters and give the best composers of all time a more human dimension.

In this new book by Oriol Garcia Molsosa, young readers will find five stories based on well-known anecdotes about Purcell, Verdi, JS Bach, Scarlatti and Benny Goodman. There is something for everyone: animals, jazz, desserts, great composers and even kings are involved. And all the anecdotes have something in common: they all are true. But the truth is that every single story also hides a little rotten lie.

Disconcerting Stories is an invitation to pay attention, find the discordant and play "truth or lie" with the funny characters created by Mercè Galí to represent them. To make the experience even more delightful, each story includes a QR to listen to the musical fragment to which it refers. A coda to enjoy every line and note of the book with all the senses.

The magical early chapter book series by Elisenda Roca, fully illustrated by BeTowers. Novels are aimed at newly independent girl readers, who have started to read on their own, but are still little and sweet and want their magic and sparkle. And yet a bit of trouble and adventures. Keep them interested in books with Mía and her non-stop talking pet friends!

The series is about friendship, family, girl-power, love for animals and living together. Based on the framework of fantasy, adventure and mystery genres, the stories are full of humour and positive thinking.

Chapters are kept small to read one or two a night and the story is easy to follow even for younger kids. Readers will enjoy the full colour, expressive and charming illustrations by BeTowers that accompany the entertaining stories of Mía, the little witch.

A darling start to a new series, perfect for 7-year-old spell-loving readers. It's fantasy-tastic!

The Dragon's Secret

Book Day is coming up and at Mia's house everyone is so excited that Linus spends the day reading stories about princesses and dragons. So when the kittens Flower, Sunshine, Grey, Flash and Buf claim they have seen a dragon in the Little Red Mountains, nobody believes them, but Mia.

She is convinced that there is some truth in what they say and sets out to investigate with Lía and her pet friends. They will go deep into the mountains to find Dreki - A very homely veggie dragon who has always lived there and only comes out when it is really necessary. He also has powers. That's why you've never seen him before. Or maybe you have, but you haven't recognised him. With Dreki, you never know.

Playing with the shapes of a potty and a pencil, each book allows young children to explore, use their perception skills and make sense of the world around them. While guessing which are the possible uses of such ordinary objects, the books work on vocabulary, creativity, teamwork and empathy. Thus a potty is transformed into a cooking plate, a hat or a sailing boat. A pencil becomes a flower and space rocket or containers for precious things. Habits

Sometimes getting dressed, tying the shoes, acquiring table manners, sharing toys or taking turns in the park playground can be tricky for young children. But thanks to the new concertina series by Martí and Salomó, the little ones will develop good habits in a fun and positive way. One side of the book shows good results from daily routines. The other side is a humorous view of the not-so-good results, both aimed at encouraging children to improve their habits at their own pace.

Because there are always two sides of a story and there is always room for improvement, books can be read as long zigzags, displayed on a desk or hung as a garlands to decorate their rooms.

What a Cheek!

This foot tall board book has a large die-cut circular hole, perfect for toddlers to hold up and have their faces show through. The pages feature outlined characters to play choosing who they want to be: fairy or witch, Bad Wolf or Little Red Riding Hood, apple or worm, egg or chicken, pirate and sailor... This is up to each little kid to decide who they are. Besides playing identities, at the end of the book there is a suggested activity for children: to make a photocall to share pics with family and friends.

I am as Hungry as a Dragon!

With the structure of a chained story telling, this lift-the-flap book with pop-ups plays with the saying that the big fish always eat small fish.

Using simple rhyme, Marta Benegas combines fun riddles with paper engineering and the amazing illustrations of Anna Süßbauer. It starts with a frog who eats one mosquito from Quito and keeps telling a daring hyperbolic story of the animal food chain spread by spread. At the end, a huge dragon swallows them all, turns the book into coal until the tale... is done!

Tree Unfolded

An ode to trees involves different ways of looking at them. That's the main purpose of the new lift-the-flap book written by Teresa Franquesa and lavishly illustrated by Sigrid Martínez.

Maybe a single tree does not make a forest. But through this book, children will be able to discover that a tree is a habitat itself, feeds animals, shelters us, provides shade, produces fruits and seeds, draws landscapes and inspires paintings and poems and adventures. On top of all that, a tree is a living being to love and care of. To stimulate kids' curiosity, every spread has a big flap with a cut-out in the shapes of optical instruments. An invitation to observe close up how the life of the tree unfolds.

At the end of the book, the reader will find a step-by-step guide for planting a tree

What Do We Feed

The planet is in peril, and we cannot restore it without transforming our food system.

According to World Wide Fund for Nature, what we eat has changed the planet. Across the globe forests have been devastated to make space to rear cattle and to grow crops to feed livestock, while our oceans become barren as they are trawled and overfished. Food production is not only the greatest driver of wildlife loss, it contributes to climate change: about a quarter of global greenhouse gas emissions are associated with food.

What We Feed explains to children how we can all make little changes to our diet to help us eat healthily and sustainably, in a way which is good both for both us and for the environment.

What an Artist! Frank Lloyd Wright

The new title in the "What an Artist!" collection invites young readers to take an interactive journey through the work of architect Frank Lloyd Wright through pop-ups, lift-up flaps, windows and many more surprises.

This book traces Wright's career from his origins, the history of his family, his childhood and the influence of Froebel's games, to his most iconic designs such as the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum or Fallingwater. This is a tour that explains the basics behind all his work: the importance of landscape, materials and the unity of each building with nature and the space they inhabit.

With this Line

After Inside the Museum Mazes, Luisa Vera has created another eye-catching lift-the-flap book for little artists. A tribute to one of the most famous drawing techniques of the 20th century!

As its title suggests, Luisa uses the continuous line to show the path of a pencil stroke from morning to bedtime. With this drawing technique, a single line remains unbroken from beginning to end while the drawing tool stays in uninterrupted contact with the surface of the paper during the entire length of the book.

Following the pencil stroke, little artists can seek and find 10 items in every spread: from toys and animals to space ships and family members. By way of epilogue, readers will also find some short information about the artists who inspired the author to create this arty story: Paul Klee and Saul Steinberg. And for the impatient, an answer key to the 70 items is included at the end of the book.

Inside the Museum Mazes

Are you ready to explore Modern Art movements from Impressionism to Pop Art?

Join a dad and his child for a visit to the museum. If you get lost, just follow the mazes in order to find out the way out to the next room.

The guided tour will soon turn into an incredible maze adventure. In each room you will find recognizable artists' styles to spot. From Monet to Hockney and Delaunay... Be aware that artworks might come alive to become your guides.

Would you like to learn more about an art movement, just lift the flap to find out information about the styles, main artists and iconic paintings... But wait, there's more! Paintings can talk! Follow them to find the paths through the seven arty mazes to go from room to room!

Ready to learn? Neuroeducation is at stake!

Are you ready to learn? Àngels Navarro, one of the most versatile and comprehensive specialists in games of wit and mind training in Spain, has created a series to foster children's brain skills.

Based on neuroeducation's ultimate literature, children will be able to improve learning processes, consolidate concepts and learn to learn by combining playful exercises with the acquisition of new mental skills. Every activity is accompanied by the bold illustrations of María Reyes Guijarro, and works on one specific mental skill: attention, reasoning, knowledge of space, language, memory, numerical reasoning, graphomotricity and creative thinking.

The more you practice, the more confident you'll feel and the more you will learn.

All I Know About the Anger

Strong emotions such as anger, rage and frustration can be difficult for kids to manage.

As the protagonist of the book says we all get angry at some point in our lives. Sometimes we can't avoid feeling grumpy or being cranky. But we can take a deep breath, count to 10, think of something nice to calm down. Or even better, use the brand new powerful device at the end of the book. Just give a try!

Ahoy Mateys!

Not just another pirate story!

As They Are, So Are They!

We are often dazzled by what other people are like and the things they have or what they do (their hairstyle, glasses, clothes, skills...) and we think we would like to be like them. As They Are, So Are They! makes it clear that this could happen to all of us, that it is neither good or bad and that, in fact, other people also like the things we do, what we have, the way we are...

Written by the bestseller author Jaume Copons and illustrated by Gusti, the characters in this story shine a light on children's insecurities and jealousies, making us think about them. Because in the end, we are who we are, right?

Toribio & García

Can an elephant who is afraid of mice ever become best friends with a tiny little mouse? Find out in this short chapter book delightfully well-written by Ricardo Alcántara, and amazingly illustrated by Sophia Touliaoutou.

Toribio & García break the myth and present the story of an unlikely friendship between a gentle and observant elephant, Toribio, and an adventurous mouse named García.

It just so happens that García met Toribio one day. Since then, they have been inseparable and go together everywhere. And although they see the world in a different way, they enjoy each other's company and have fun learning from each other.

In one single book you will find three stories: Good Friends, Toribio's Small Eyes and The Costume Contest. Which is your favorite?
